Dr Khaled Kadry, Consultant Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist

Dr Khaled Kadry is a consultant child and adolescent psychiatrist and Lead Clinician for the Maudsley Child and Adolescent International (MCAI) service in Abu Dhabi. Dr Kadry worked as a consultant psychiatrist in South London and Maudsley Hospital UK in one of the biggest and busiest boroughs in London before moving to Abu Dhabi in 2015.

Dr Mima Simic, Consultant Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist

Dr Mima Simic is Joint Head of the Child and Adolescent Eating Disorder Service at the South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust as well as a Consultant Psychiatrist with the Dialectical Behaviour Therapy Service for young people with emerging borderline personality disorder. She is active in teaching, training and research in the UK and abroad on eating disorders and self-harm and was/is involved in a number of multi-centric research studies on the efficacy of the multi-family therapy or family therapy in treatment of eating disorders and self-harm. Dr Simic is currently involved in the development of the novel Intensive Treatment Programme (day treatment) for young people with anorexia nervosa and EDNOS.

Dr Bruce Clark, Consultant Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist

Dr Bruce Clark joined the National and Specialist Obsessive Compulsive Disorder (OCD) at The Maudsley Hospital, London in 2013. He is a consultant child and adolescent psychiatrist with special expertise in treatment resistant obsessive compulsive disorder and related disorders. He is also an Honorary Research at the Institute of Psychiatry, Psychology and Neuroscience and is the Clinical Director of Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services at the Maudsley.

The National and Specialist Team for OCD and related disorders is the only such specialist team in the United Kingdom. This service has an international reputation for innovation, research and delivery of the highest quality treatment of OCD and other anxiety disorders.
Chloë Volz, Consultant Clinical Psychologist

Chloë Volz is a Consultant Clinical Psychologist with the National and Specialist OCD and Related Disorders Team for Children and Young People and is overall Team Lead. She leads the section that provides treatment for the most severe, treatment-resistant cases of young people with obsessive compulsive disorder. Her clinical role is to develop individually-tailored treatment packages, which might involve intensive, home-based and inpatient treatment. The OCD team works jointly with Snowsfelds Adolescent Unit to offer specialist inpatient provision and Chloe has led on this development. As part of the national service, Chloë offers consultation and joint work with clinicians around the country, enabling young people to access specialist treatment when they need it.

Prof Emily Simonoff MD, FRCPsych. Professor of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry and Head of Department

Emily Simonoff is Professor of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at the Institute of Psychiatry, King’s College London, where she is also head of the Department. She studied Psychology and Social Relations and then Medicine at Harvard University. After qualifying she moved to train at the Maudsley Hospital and MRC Child Psychiatry Unit at the Institute of Psychiatry, London, where she trained in general and child psychiatry. Following a Wellcome Clinical Training Fellowship in child psychiatry and genetics, she became MRC Senior Scientists in child psychiatry and genetics at the Institute of Psychiatry. She was appointed Professor of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at Guy’s King’s and St Thomas’ Hospital Medical school, King’s College London in 1998 and Professor of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at the Institute of Psychiatry in 2002.

Her current role includes that of academic lead for the Child Mental Disorders Clinical Academic Group in King’s Health Partners, the academic health sciences centre for King’s College London.
Dr Martin Baggaley, Consultant Psychiatrist and Executive Medical Director

Dr Baggaley qualified from St Bartholomew’s Hospital, London in 1984. He served in the British Army as a medical officer from 1985 until 1997. He trained as a psychiatrist in the Army at Guy’s Hospital London. He has been a full-time psychiatrist from 1986 and has been a consultant from 1993. He has extensive experience in the assessment, treatment and management of post traumatic stress reactions and the management of psychological trauma after accidents and disasters. He worked as a Senior lecturer in Military Psychiatry for 4 years and for two years was head of Division at the Defence Services Psychiatric Centre, Catterick. Whilst at Catterick, he was in charge of the Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) programme, specialising in the management of treatment resistant PTSD. He has served on operational tours in Bosnia and Northern Ireland.

Dr Baggaley left the British Army in 1997 and was appointed to the post of consultant psychiatrist for the Lewisham Guys Mental Health NHS Trust. He was appointed Executive Medical Director of the South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust in August 2007. He continues to work clinically on an acute admission ward at Lambeth Hospital. He has been a General Medical Council (GMC) Health Examiner and Health Assessor since 2010.

Dr Irene Sclare, Consultant Clinical Psychologist

Dr Irene Sclare is a Consultant Clinical Psychologist at South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust and has worked for over 25 years with troubled children, young people and families, with emotional, behavioural and developmental disorders, and children with a range of disabilities and chronic health conditions. She has a long term interest in helping children to overcome the effects of trauma, and to build resilience. She is active in teaching, training and research in the UK, and has held senior leadership roles within the NHS and the British Psychological Society. Dr Sclare has worked within various multidisciplinary outpatient teams providing psychological assessment and treatment for young people with complex mental health conditions, and their families. She has also worked within hospitals, schools, nurseries and family homes to provide accessible mental health care. She has a longstanding interest in early intervention services, staff training and improving young people’s access to mental health care.
Dr Sophie Browning, Consultant Clinical Psychologist

Dr Sophie Browning is a Consultant Clinical Psychologist and is the Lead Psychologist for inpatient Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services (CAMHS) within South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust. She is responsible for ensuring the provision of a systematic Clinical Psychology service for children and adolescents with complex mental health needs and their families across the in-patient and related services. She has enjoyed working within inpatient CAMHS for over 15 years.

Dr Crispin Day BSc, Clin Psych, PhD, AFBPS, Chartered Scientist

Crispin is a clinical psychologist who has a special interest in early intervention and community-based mental health services for children and families. During his career, he has been a clinician, researcher and manager in child mental health services. He has developed and evaluated innovative community based approaches working closely with community health practitioners, local parents and communities.